

The Lloyd Fraser Group use DPS LogiX within its Bulk Liquid and Food distribution divisions for:

- New business development
- Strategic analysis
- Dynamic Scheduling

Adrian Rea, Planning and Productivity, Lloyd Fraser Management Services:

“DPS LogiX with its superior strategic and dynamic planning functionality has figured prominently in the successful development of our bulk liquid collection and delivery business and our food distribution division. DPS LogiX is used daily to arrange collections from manufacturing sites for onward delivery to major retail customers via a national distribution centre; all within strict collection and delivery deadlines.

Despite DPS having customers worldwide it achieves a ‘local’ client-to-customer relationship. Their management style allows immediate response to support issues and bespoke developments. The access database simply compliments the overall use of this product.”
